Batavia, Yesterday.

TROOPS MAY BE LANDED

INFURIATED MOBS ATTACK FACTORIES

Provincial Uprising Stamped Out.

STRONGER GUARD FOR OFFICERS IN NATIONAL HOTEL

Washington, To-day.

The aggravation of the Cuban disorders is enhanced by the possibility of the landing of United States troops, as the lives and property of Americans are increasingly jeopardised.

It is reported that infuriated mobs have attacked an American ice factory and a Spanish shoe factory at Manzanillo.

An abortive rising in the province of Pinar del Rio, although stamped out by the Government has increased the general apprehension.

A stronger guard, reinforced by machine guns has been posted over the 500 officers loyal to ex-President Carlos Cespedes y Ortiz who are still imprisoned in the Hotel Nacional.

Meanwhile, President Grau San Martine has rejected the proposal of the leaders of the political factions that he should resign in favour of Dr. Cespedes.—Reuter.

The political turmoil in Cuba rapidly assumed a more serious aspect following the overthrow on September 5 of the 25-day-old Cespedes Government, by an extremist junta.

While stating that the United States Government did not desire to intervene, President Roosevelt declared that he would take all steps necessary to protect American lives and interests. He also expressed his determination to insist on complete proof of the ability of the new regime, under Professor Grau San Martine, to maintain order, before granting United States recognition.

Thirty-nine American warships are at present in Cuban waters, while the 14-inch guns of the U.S.S. Mississippi are trained on the Hotel Nacional where the American Ambassador to Cuba, Mr. H. Sumner Welles, and other American subjects are sheltering.

BRITISH BEER BOYCOTTED BY FREE STATE

Terrorists Raid And Smash Shops.

12 ARRESTED IN POLICE ROUND-UP

Dublin, Yesterday.
The boycott of British beer is completely overshadowing the political situation.

As a consequence of innumerable raids, British beer is no longer displayed in windows, but police all over the country insist on dealing with the terrorists, who, armed with sticks and mallets, lurch round the shops, awaiting signs of the appearance of British ales, whereupon they smash all visible bottles.

A large force of police scoured the south of County Dublin all last night, arresting twelve suspects.—Reuter.

DUBLIN MILITARY TRIBUNAL ACTS.

Raid On Headquarters Of National Guard.

Dublin, Yesterday.
A force of detectives swooped down on the headquarters of the National Guard in Parnell Square and seized quantities of documents and literature, the Military Tribunal having earlier issued an order authorising the closure of the premises.

The Commission in the Reserve of Officers of the National Guard has been withdrawn by the Government.—Reuter.

GERMANY WANTS ARMS EQUALITY

"Present One-Sided Defencelessness."

NO INTERFERENCE IN CONFLICT WITH AUSTRIA

Berlin, Yesterday.
"If it were thought that by the argument that Germany wanted a period of rest before resorting to a policy of violence the domination of victors over vanquished could be perpetuated it must be decisively declared that Germany refused to put up with such a situation further."

This unequivocal statement on Germany's attitude to Disarmament, was made yesterday by the Foreign Minister, Baron Von Neurath, in a speech at a reception of foreign journalists.

He declared that the only alternative to equality was the collapse of the idea of Disarmament, with tragic consequences, for which Germany would not be responsible.

"Fully armed nations," Baron Von Neurath declared, "have no right to talk to defenceless Germany like a schoolmaster. They will not be listened to in Germany."

The suggestion that Germany desired to re-arm was a deliberate effort to hide the fact that her aim was merely the removal of her present position of one-sided defencelessness.

The suggestion that disarmed nations should be subjected to preliminary control prior to international control of armaments applied to all States and was unworkable, he declared.

SCOTLAND LOSE AT SOCCER

Irish Invasion Proves Successful.

SCOTS MISS PENALTY

London, Yesterday.
Ireland, who are making a determined bid to regain the international soccer title that they last held in the 1913-14 season, won the first of their three games this season when they beat Scotland by 2 goals to 1 after leading by two clear goals at the interval at Celtic Park, Glasgow, to-day.

Ireland led deservedly at the end of the first half through goals by Martin. Scotland showed none of their traditional style after the interval, but played in hurricane fashion. McPhail scored their goal after they had failed to convert a penalty.

A crowd of 22,000 witnessed the game in glorious weather. The result was in the nature of a surprise as Ireland had previously won on only three occasions in their 45 games against Scotland in the series. Only four of these games have been drawn and Scotland have scored 165 goals to Ireland's 36.—Reuter.

He will confer with the officers on the progress of the anti-Communist campaign and will then return to Foochow.

Following their unsuccessful venture, the Communists are retreating their way back to their old haunts in southern Kiangsi.

There is no likelihood that the Communists will go to south-western districts, to join up with their comrades in Changling Lungyen in Western Fukien is garrisoned by the 69th Division, and the 40th Division is scattered between Lungyen and Yunguan.

Lady Clayton was carried unconscious to the hospital, where she died.

EMPLOYMENT AND PAY ROLLS RISE IN U.S.A.

750,000 Obtain Work In August.

COAL CODE READY FOR ROOSEVELT TO SIGN

Washington, Yesterday.

Bright spots in the critical stage of America's Prosperity Drive are the August employment index, which is the highest for two years, and the pay roll figure, the highest since December, 1931.

These improvements are largely due to the drive for shorter hours. A total of 750,000 of the unemployed were re-absorbed in August.

Stressing the importance of these figures, Miss Frances Perkins, United States Secretary of Labour, warns the country against complacency, as employment is still 28 per cent. under the normal average of 1926. Pay rolls are even lower.

The coal position has brightened as a result of General Hugh Johnson's declaration that the Coal Code will unquestionably be ready for President Roosevelt, by to-night.

It is stated that President Roosevelt is adhering to the language of the Recovery Act in allowing collective bargaining, and is permitting no advance interpretations of the Labour clause until and unless specific cases arise.

He regards the Act as specifying "neither an open nor a closed shop," but as permitting Labour to bargain with employers collectively.—Reuter.

U.S. BUDGET DEFINITELY BALANCED

Income And Beer Taxes Help Treasury.

DECISION ON INFLATION WITHIN A MONTH

Washington, Yesterday.

High members of the United States Administration yesterday informed the United Press that the Government, within a month, will announce a definite monetary policy, defining the status of the dollar. They may also reveal their intention regarding actual physical inflation, if any.

Some Conservative members of the Administration reiterated that actual inflation or actual stabilisation of the dollar, in terms of gold or any other unit, are still somewhat distant.

Another high official said that the Government will use the powers of credit inflation to the limit before resorting to any process of cheapening the dollar through inflation.

Mr. William H. Woodin, United States Secretary of Treasury, yesterday, said that the Government Budget will now definitely balance, with a slight surplus.

He also said that the income tax receipts, the third installment of which was due yesterday are increasing rapidly.

He said that the repeal of prohibition would give further help to the finances.—United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

Chapter V. — The Mission Station.

(By GERALD BURRARD.)

THE day in the crest of the cliff was about five hundred yards to their left, and they reached it in safety without seeing or hearing any more signs of falling rocks. There remained a short climb up the dry bed of a mountain torrent, and the top of the cliff was gained. The scene that met their gaze as they cautiously peered over was typical of the Further Himalayas. Barren shale slopes and dazzling snowfields without a sign of life. Here and there were clusters of rock, but human beings there were none.

They followed the line of the cliff until they reached a point which they judged must have been immediately above them when the rocks fell. The hard shale was not the ground to hold footprints, and for a full fifteen minutes they searched in silence. Then Geoffrey, who was filled with a great longing to find out the truth about Phyllis, could restrain his impatience no longer, and declared that they were on a wild-goose chase, and that fall of stones was a natural phenomenon after all.

"I hope you are right, sahib, but I feel you are not. Anyhow, they have eluded us for the present, so let us descend to the house of the padre-sahib."

A four-thousand-foot descent is as nothing in the Himalayas, and it was not very long before Geoffrey and the Pathan were staring at a rough stone-built house. An elderly gentleman was digging in a garden in front of it. As they watched, a white girl came out of the door and called to the man. Although Geoffrey was still a couple of hundred yards away, he knew her at once as the girl he loved. He darted down the intervening slope and hurried up to the astonished couple.

"Phyllis, don't you remember me? And you, sir, I presume, are Mr. Merridew?"

"Why, Colonel Barracough, I declare, I didn't recognise you in your beard." She spoke quickly as if to hide her confusion, for she had blushed violently at Geoffrey's use of her christian name. "Father, this is Colonel Barracough, who saved my life."

Mr. Merridew bowed with an old-world courtesy. "Then, sir, I am indeed honoured and truly grateful. Will you accept an old man's thanks for rescuing his only treasure?"

"Oh, come, sir, if your daughter has told you the truth you will know that she owes most to her own pluck. But I cannot get over my surprise at finding you here. I imagined you lived beyond Chinl. Why, I am camped but three miles down the valley."

"Then you will, of course, move up here at once, and I hope you will accept such meagre hospitality as I can offer."

Geoffrey jumped at the suggestion with alacrity and summoned Sher Khan, who had been waiting in the background, telling him to fetch the camp and coolies along as soon as possible. Mr. Merridew ignored the interruption and went on: "Chinl? No, no, though I know it well. I came here in the early days of the war and built this little house. I am a fair doctor, and I think I help these poor people a little. Being near the border, both Tibetans and Bhotias come to me, as well as Kumaonis and many pilgrims. I am well content now I have my daughter with me. But come inside and rest. We were just about to have our tiffin. You will join us?"

Phyllis soon laid another place at the little table, and the meal seemed perfectly delightful to Geoffrey. It was almost over when the door was burst open and one of Geoffrey's coolies stood on the threshold.

"Sher Khan bid me run, sahib," he panted; "one of the load-carriers has been killed."

"Killed!" Geoffrey sprang to his feet.

"How?"

"Shot, sahib, with a bullet."

"Where?"

"Scarce a mile back. I came quickly. It was the Pathan's order."

"Wait outside. I will come at once."

Geoffrey turned to his astonished companions: "Look here. I cannot stay with you, much as I should like to. I must take you into my confidence, but there is no time for details. I have been commissioned by the Secret Service to try to track down and break up a powerful gang somewhere in Tibet. I hoped I had eluded them, but fear I am trailed. If I stay with you I will only draw you into it, and they know no mercy. I must be off now, but I will try to send you a message."

Mr. Merridew strode to the door and put his back against it. "Colonel Barracough, your duty is with your coolies and I will not delay you a moment. But I must insist that before you start you will promise to return here as you would have in the ordinary course of events. Wait"—as Geoffrey was about to interrupt—"I am by profession a man of peace, but I have seen fighting in my time. This house is well built. We can defend it against heavy odds. We have ample stores and could withstand a siege. In case of wounds I am a pretty fair surgeon, and in case of necessity, I am not a bad shot. You must promise that you will come back as quickly as possible and bring your men to shelter here. Both my daughter and myself wish it. I speak for both."

Before Geoffrey could say a word Phyllis had joined her father at the door. "I too will help to keep you unless you promise, and I know that you wish to go at once. Think of your poor men. Here they will have a chance, but outside they have none. You will promise?"

Geoffrey, could scarce restrain himself from seizing her in his arms, so lovely did she look, her eyes ablaze with earnestness. "I promise, but for my men's sake. If anything happens here I will never forgive myself."

Rifle in hand he stepped into the courtyard and walked quickly down the valley.

Chapter VI. PURSUIT.

Geoffrey Barracough, takes shelter for the night in Mr. Merridew's missionary outpost in the border ranges. During the night, the house is attacked by a band of hill-men ordered by "The Tiger" to prevent Geoffrey crossing the border. The attackers are driven off, one being taken prisoner.

The chances of a second attack that night, or rather day, were so remote that Geoffrey allowed everyone to sleep, after taking the precaution of tying up the prisoner of his Bhotia guard.

The sun was almost overhead before anyone stirred; the strain of the night had worn them completely out. Sher Khan was the first to wake, and he immediately went outside with a pair of glasses to see whether he could distinguish any further indications of the enemy. He had been searching the surrounding hills for nearly half an hour when Geoffrey joined him.

"What are you going to do with the prisoner, Sahib?"

"I don't know. I am hoping that I may be able to get some information out of him. Last night he was too terrified to be of any use."

"Those bombs were a good idea, Sahib. Never have I seen their like before. When this hunting is over, do you think I might have a box to take back to my home?"

Geoffrey laughed at the idea.

"That would be a new method of settling some blood-feuds, wouldn't it? Well, I can promise nothing. You had better send in a special petition to the Viceroy. Doubtless he will accede to your request on account of services rendered."

"Ah, Sahib, you jest. But truly they are good toys. Would that I had had some in the old days."

Geoffrey went indoors once more, and as the Merridews both appeared, to be still asleep, for he could hear no movement in either of their rooms, he called for the prisoner to be brought out.

Mainly Women

WOMEN CAN SAVE THE EMPIRE

by "CHRYSSA"

IT is the woman who make the Empire. Patriotism, like all the virtues, needs cultivation, and although it is instinctive in a child it must be fostered by association, and stimulated by education, if it is to bear the fair fruit it should.

Beyond the home, there is the nation, and British women in South China should remember that they are members of a great, and glorious Empire, and that they must take an intelligent interest in matters altogether outside their everyday life.

Women are the Chancellors of the Exchequer in their homes. When they are spending the house-keeping money I must remind them that in buying British goods they are supporting labour, and encouraging British industry. The late Duchess of Albany once said to me that in the early days the Colonies were acquired with the one view of commercial relations. But in later years this policy has been ignored. And one quarter of the inhabited world is under the British flag. It was the late Duchess of Albany who inspired His Royal Highness The Duke of York while a small boy to take an interest in industrial affairs. Her daughter Princess Alice of Athlone is one of the finest workers for the Empire's products. They aim at rousing a more practical sense of patriotism among women, and endeavour to show them that they have exceptional opportunities of rendering invaluable service to the country, consistently with their home duties.

These thoughts occurred to me as I looked at the fine window display of.

New Zealand products being exhibited by Messrs. Lane Crawford Ltd., the firm that upholds so splendidly the best that is British. But all must be loyal citizens. New Zealand produces ten-times more Dairy Produce than she can consume. The "Snowflake" full cream evaporated milk is produced from the finest dairy pastures in the world under a system of open-air grazing all the year round by herds noted for their health and vigour. Then in nutritional tests conducted in Britain, medical authorities specially choose New Zealand food products because of their high quality, and vitamin content.

These include Hellaby's Cooked Hams, The C.M.C. Ox Tongues, Whittomes Pickles, Whittomes Tomato Juice, Whittomes Fruit Juices, Ozone Oysters, Oystrene Soup, "Kapal," and "Royal Taste" Honey, and many other sunshine foodstuffs which can be obtained at Messrs. Lane Crawford.

New Zealand cannot consume all she produces because she has not got the population, yet America,

Autumn Gowns Are Longer

Ankle-Length Dresses For Afternoon.

IN skirt length, one finds individuality. Women who prefer the sports type of costume often adopt a quite short skirt for street wear, sometimes 11 inches of less. Others who dress more elegantly and conservatively, are likely to prefer a longer costume, nine or 10 inches being the rule.

For formal afternoon wear, an increasing number of women are choosing ankle length gowns. This is really a much more graceful length with the Victorian details now so popular. Wide shouldered effects too seem much more correct with longer gowns. And, of course, many women realise that they themselves are more charming in the longer frocks.

Switzerland, and other foreign countries only send here what they cannot consume themselves. Apart from this, ought we not to think of the men folk who have left their homes in England to go out and settle on the farms in New Zealand. We are helping them and the Empire by buying New Zealand products.

Every British woman should be fired by the ideal that everyone must serve, and work for the good of the Colony, and the Empire.

Adel.

Accessory Craze Growing

ACCESSORIES are increasing in size and style importance. Handbags, one foot square, in cream-coloured pinstrip are favourites for street wear.

Five-inch pendant earrings and sets of huge diamond crane hook and ring tackles holding up décolletés are notable evening details.

Pig skin is advancing to the style front. Patrol's natural peccary waistcoat, belt, bag and gauntlets heighten the chic of brown wool sports suits.

Fish Skin For Shoes

Dainty Leather From Young Sharks.

DID you know that fish skins make good shoe leather?

The so-called porpoise-hide boots have long been favourites with sportsmen. But the creature from which the leather is obtained is not the porpoise, but the beluga, or white whale.

Shark skins have long been used for a harsh sort of leather, which is used for sword handles and inlaid work.

The skins of very young sharks make a beautiful leather, which takes dyes remarkably well, and is, therefore, suitable for ornamental footwear.

One large whale will supply a thousand square feet or more of leather from the lining of its stomach.

The skins of various rays, including the Japanese ray, make pretty leathers, and that of the cat-fish is used for the manufacture of women's shoes.

Broadcloth Next Favourite

Bold Stripes Give Striking Tone.

BROADCLOTHS of all weights in mat and shining satin finish will come in strong for Autumn on the side of the slick fabrics.

Shaded striped broadcloth is something new; textile creators are, by the way, showing an extraordinary amount of big bold stripes in heavy materials—woolens and velvets, as well as thick, lustrous satins and laces—which must mean something, though somehow we have come to associate them almost exclusively with the less formal hot-weather mode.

CLUB SOCCER DOUBLE OVER LINCOLNS TEAMS

Premier Eleven's Big Improvement.

JUNIORS DESERVE ODD GOAL TRIUMPH

After losing to the Artillery by the odd goal last week, the Club senior soccer eleven showed much improved form yesterday to beat the Lincolns by 6 goals to 4 in their second practice match at the Valley.

The Club juniors, who beat the Artillery second string by a narrow margin last week, recorded their second success of the season when they beat the Lincolns second eleven by the odd goal yesterday.

Club 3-2 In Arrears At Interval.

HEATH SAVES PENALTY

Starting with ten men the Club were soon a goal in arrears. Duncan made a mistake and the ball went out to HOGGARD who closed in to beat Fowler with a fast around shot. Following Tavlin's late appearance for the Club the Lincolns went further ahead when BALDRY made amends for missing badly by converting a typical Hoggard centre with a first-time shot.

The Club were now gradually finding their feet and Heath saved well after a good movement by Bickford and Strange. After 20 minutes play E. STRANGE scored a great goal, receiving well from Howe and dribbling past Dudley and Turner to give Heath no chance.

Spurred on by this success the Club levelled the scores when HOWE netted a splendid goal. E. Strange started the movement, and Duncan sent a through pass to Howe who took the ball in his stride and swerved before shooting the ball into the far corner of the net.

Their success was short-lived, however, for BALDRY scored another first-time goal from a great pass by Hoggard. A good piece of work between Strange and Howe resulted in the advancing Heath luckily averting Howe's shot with his foot.

The second half opened with E. STRANGE against levelling the scores. Bickford crossing and drawing Heath for Strange to put the ball through an unguarded goal.

Two glorious dribbles by Ridley revived interest in a game which has become scrappy. Fowler twice cleared good shots by throwing out the ball, but, in saving the third, COUSINS anticipated his movement and kicked the ball out of his hands into the net.

The equalising goal came a few minutes later when Heath in making a good save from Dominy, pushed the ball out to HOWE from whom it rebounded into the net.

The game was difficult to follow in the closing stages owing to bad light, but interest was heightened when E. Strange was brought down in the 'box'. Heath, however, saved Bickford's 'spot-kick'.

A few minutes later, however, BICKFORD ran through to beat Heath with a glorious shot, and STRANGE finished off a good afternoon's work by beating Heath from close in to score, the Club's sixth point.

Club:—S. Fowler; S. Strange, Hyne; Tavlin, Skinner, Duncan; F. Fowler, Dominy, Howe, E. Strange and Bickford.

Lincolns:—Heath; Turner, Colclough, Dudley, Cork, Bett; Baldry, Higgins, Cousins, Ridley and Hoggard.

Club Junior Eleven Deserve Win.

FISHER SCORES TWO OF SIDES' THREE GOALS

The Club second string again showed splendid form when they deservedly beat the Lincolns by the odd goal in five.

Williams was prominent in the opening exchanges and FISHER opened the scoring with a glorious goal, showing a rare turn of speed to beat Wildey and Ramsden, and finish off his solo effort with a

SWIMMING TRIALS FOR THE NANKING MEET

S.C.A.A.F. Finals As Elimination Trials.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY AT C.C.S.C.

Entries Close To-day

The South China Amateur Athletic Federation's Swimming Championships will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, and will be staged in the nature of Elimination Trials for the Chinese National Meeting to be held at Nanking on October 10.

This was the decision of the meeting of the Federation's Swimming Committee, presided over by Mr. Wong Kam Ying, the Chairman, at the Chinese Bathing Club on Friday night.

Owing to lack of time the Committee have been unable to make preparations for the trials and thought that it would be an excellent idea to combine the championships with the trials and so save time.

The title of the trials and the inclement weather conditions now prevailing are responsible for the Championship Elimination trials taking place at the Chinese Civil Servants Swimming Club where deep water is available at all tides. The Committee have decided to charge an entrance fee of 40 cents for the finals and 20 cents for the heats. The latter will take place to-morrow and on Tuesday at the same venue.

The entry list, which opened yesterday morning, closes this afternoon at 7 p.m.

FOUR RECORDS MADE AT S.C.A.A. MEET

KWOK CHUN HANG WINS VICTOR LUDORUM

MISS YEUNG SAU KING MAKES CLEAN SWEEP

KWOK CHUN-HANG, the Colony's Breast Stroke record holder and the H.K.I.A.S.A. Breast and Back Stroke champion, won the Victor Ludorum at the South China Athletic Association's Swimming championships last night when he recorded his first championship win in the Men's 200 Metres Breast Stroke, which, together with his win in the South China A.A. Harbour swim, gave him a two points victory over Chan Ki-chung, by 14 points to 12.

Miss Yeung Sau-king, South China's Lady champion and the Colony's most brilliant lady swimmer, won the Victor Ludorum with a total of 18 points against 7 points obtained by her sister, Miss Yeung Sau-chun, who came second.

Miss Yeung Sau-king performed brilliantly throughout the meeting to capture first place in all six of the Ladies' Championships, thereby repeating her last year's performance. She is only 15 years old.

Chan Ki-chung is to be congratulated on winning the three free style events and the 100 Metres Back Stroke championship. Unfortunately for him, he was unaware at the time that points resulting from the South China Harbour Swim, counted towards the championship, and as a consequence scratched from the Men's 200 Yards Breast Stroke event at which stage the points were 12-8 in his favour.

Chan Ki-chung, had he swum in the Breast Stroke event would probably have obtained second place which would have resulted in a draw in points of 14-14.

South China Ladies' Record

The Ladies' 200 Metres Invitation relay attracted only one outside club—the Chung Sing Benevolent Society. The South China Ladies had no difficulty in winning the race to shatter their own record time by four-fifths of a second.

In the Men's 50 Metres Championship, Chan Ki-chung took an early lead over Kwok Chun-hang and Leung Wan-sang to win by two clear seconds.

The Men's 100 Yards Back Stroke Championship saw Chan Ki-chung secure his "double" and set a new record by 1.9/10 seconds. He held the previous record of 86.3/5 secs., set up last year.

The following were the results: Ladies' 200 Metres Invitation Relay (H.K.I.A.S.A. Clubs): 1. South China A.A.—Miss Yeung Sau-king, Miss Yeung Sau-chun, Miss Leung Wing-han and Miss Leung Woon-wah. Time: 2 mins. 46.3/5 secs.

The winners established a lead in the first length, both the Y.M.C.A. and the Chinese Bathing Club's first men fouling the lines, to give them an ultimate win by half a length.

Miss Chan Yuk-fai, the Chinese Bathing Club's lady champion recorded wins in both the Ladies' events.

The following were the results: Men's 300 Metres Invitation Relay (Teams of 6): 1. South China A.A.—Chan Ki-chung, Kwok Chun-hang, Cheong Wing Kwong, Ho Ping-ki, Leung Wai-sang, Leung Tik-sang. Time: 3 mins. 5.2/5 secs.

K.C.C. DISCOVER TWO BATSMEN

Munn And Munroe Shine In Trial.

ERNIE FINCHER OPENS SEASON WITH HALF CENTURY

F. A. Munn and D. H. Munroe made impressive debuts as batsmen in the Kowloon Cricket Club's first trial match of the season, and, judging on yesterday's display it will be surprising if they are omitted from the K.C.C. premier league team.

Munn batted aggressively for his 31, which included five boundaries. During his third wicket partnership with G. Lee, which realised 43 runs, he was particularly severe on the short balls on the off. His cover-driving was the feature of a promising display.

Munroe is a palmstalking, left-handed batsman who becomes attractive to watch once he is set. Two years ago he was playing for Tonbridge School first eleven. He is at present residing in Canton, but it is understood that he will play for the K.C.C. if required.

Ernie Fincher played a characteristic undefeated innings for 51, hitting eight boundaries in a knock featured by well-timed hook shots.

Teddy Ramsay, a former Interporter, was unable to play in his first game in three years, and Teddy Fincher and Willie Hung were other absentees.

The pitch, which was very soft after the heavy downpour on Friday night, played too easily to make the trial a success, and until the pitches get harder a true estimate of the K.C.C.'s strength this season cannot be obtained.

CHAMPIONS RETAIN LAWN BOWLS TITLE

Craigengower's Big Win Over Civil Service.

WIN TITLE FOR SECOND YEAR IN SUCCESSION

Winning on all three rinks yesterday on their own green the Craigengower Cricket Club defeated the Civil Service Cricket Club by 19 shots to retain the Junior Division Lawn Bowls League title they won last year for the first time in the history of the competition which dates back to 1924.

The champions lost only to the Recreio in their eight home matches, and were beaten by the Electric, the Police, and Bowling Green in their away fixtures this season. They beat the Civil Servants by 25 shots on the latter's green in their first game of the season.

The Bowling Green thus concluded the season as runners-up with 22 points from their 16 games, as against the holders' 24 points. The K.B.G.C. premier league team beat Civil Service in the play-off for the title a fortnight ago.

BECTIVE

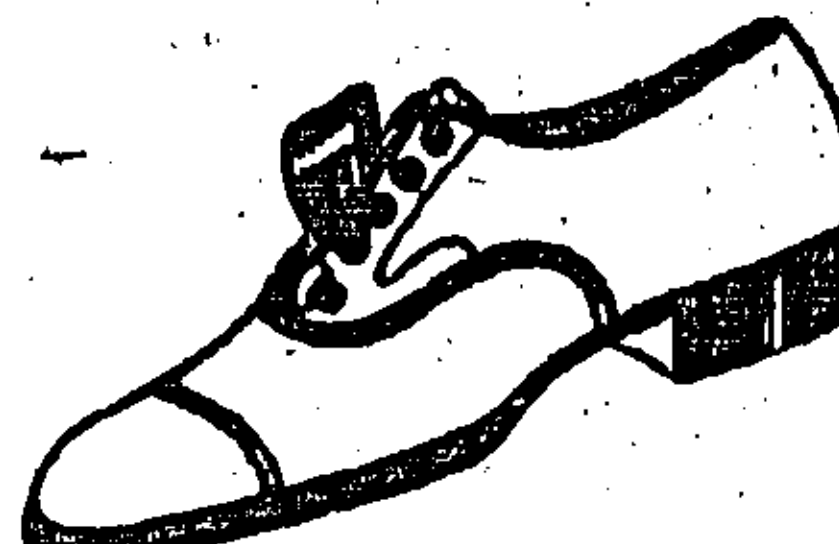

Established 1860.

WITH all the present day enthusiasm for the modern, there are still certain crafts which claim prestige by their very antiquity, and shoemaking is one of them.

The result is that BECTIVE SHOES are personal shoes, shoes for all occasions and thoroughly reliable, never varying in quality, yet changing daily with the trend of fashionable footwear designs. BECTIVE SHOES have craftsmanship "built in".

THE CHOICE OF SHOES.

It is not necessary to wear a size larger for comfort, or a too short shoe which crumples your foot, for smartness. Your foot can be fitted to both comfort and smartness, as there is a BECTIVE SHOE in your exact fitting.

Disillusionment In Ireland.

THE prediction of an early election in the Irish Free State arouses hopes among well-wishers of Ireland that the de Valera regime will soon be ended. A little over eighteen months of the present administration has placed the country in an unhappy plight, but the people, particularly the farming community, have become increasingly restive as the economic conditions worsen, and opposition to the de Valera Government has now become formidable. Whether the feeling in the country is strong enough to force Mr. de Valera to resign is difficult to judge at this distance, but the President is reported to be losing favour with the small Labour group on whom he depends for his majority in the Dail. Unfortunately, the Labour members, normally insignificant, but now holding the balance of voting power, have their "price," and Mr. de Valera will probably continue to hold their support through concessions in the form of further Socialist legislation. But even if he survives a test in the Dail the President cannot avoid much longer facing the swelling discontent in the country, and the activities of General O'Duffy will accelerate the crisis.

The commander of the Blue Shirts has been appointed leader of the new United Ireland Party, comprised of de Valera's opponents, and drawn mainly from the Blue Shirts and the Cosgrave party. Much is expected of this new organization, which should be greatly stimulated by the energetic enthusiasm of the Blue Shirts. Mr. Cosgrave is an able and proved politician, but is losing vigour, a quality which General O'Duffy would appear to possess in abundance. The Blue Shirts remain something of an enigma and suspicion attaches to them because of their apparent similarity to the Fascists. Despite this, however, they have won much sympathy abroad for the fact that, whatever the nature of their organization, they are antagonists to Mr. de Valera. Any alternative to the present administration would be welcomed, and in any case the new body commands respect for the meritorious restraint exercised during the recent critical period in Dublin, when open clashes between the rival factions were narrowly avoided.

The present period in Ireland may be described as one of disillusionment, and when that process is completed the early downfall of Mr. de Valera may be anticipated with some degree of certainty. Many Irishmen bitterly rue their misguided efforts in placing such a vainglorious President in office, and while predictions are always uncertain in this the youngest of the Dominions, it is most unlikely that voters will overlook the almost incredible folly displayed by Mr. de Valera during his term of office. In the election campaign in February last year Mr. Cosgrave could render an account of a stewardship conscientiously fulfilled. During the latter years of his administration the Free State enjoyed a calm and prosperity to which she had long been unaccustomed. The economic blizzard which brought about a world-wide depression had left her comparatively unscathed. But in a year and a half the progress has been largely undone. Defiantly alienating British sympathies, the de Valera Government abolished the oath of allegiance and repudiated the land annuities payable to Britain under the Anglo-Irish Treaty of 1921, thus provoking tariff reprisals which have caused heavy loss to Irish agricultural interests. Persisting in his unreasonable attitude, Mr. de Valera remains indifferent to the best interests of his country, and the only salvation of the farmers lies in a change of Government. The next few months will mark a critical and anxious period in the Free State, and it is the earnest hope of all that whatever the trend of political events the danger of a civil war will be averted.

NEW YORK SWEEPER'S "MOMENT"

Crowd Mistakes Him
For General Balbo.

BEARD LEADS TO ERROR

New York.

Mr. Smythe leans on his broom at intervals and dreams of his big moment.

It was in front of the hotel in which General Italo Balbo had an engagement when in New York that Mr. Smythe reached the climax of an ordinary routine life as a sweeper.

Great crowds were gathered to catch a glimpse of the bearded Italian airman. They were on the alert for the first sign of his starched white suit and well trimmed beard.

About that time, Mr. Smythe wandered upon the scene in his regulation white uniform. His pall-on-wheels and his broom had been parked on another street. He was drawn from the routine of work by an urge to see what was going on.

He sauntered into the crowd. An eagle-eyed youth rushed forward and grabbed his hand, shaking it delightedly.

"Viva Italia!" the youth said. Mr. Smythe responded to the handshake rather uncertainly, but the youth seemed to be well intentioned, so the street cleaner smiled.

In a moment he was the centre of a pushing crowd, with men and women vying for a chance to shake his hand, clap him on the back or even touch the hem of his white garments. Someone lead a cheer.

Mr. Smythe beamed. "To few men come such spontaneous applause. They were probably waking up to the excellent job he had been doing lately on the avenue, he surmised.

Then General Balbo, his bosom shining with medals and each hair of his beard carefully arranged, drove up. The crowd, recognising it had erred, swept toward him.

The General acknowledged the cheers and passed on into the hotel. The other bearded man in the white suit went back to his broom. —Reuter.

RUSSIA'S GIANT OF THE SKIES

Monoplane To Carry
70 Passengers.

NOW NEARING COMPLETION

Moscow.

A "City of the Sky" is nearing completion in the Soviet Union.

It is a giant aeroplane, claimed to be the largest of its kind in the world. Experimental flight are to begin early next year.

This aeroplane is designed to carry 70 passengers and a crew of six. It will carry so much apparatus to make it self-contained that it will be almost like being in a city.

There will be:

A cinema,
A printing office,
A powerful short-wave wireless "station" and Apparatus for "aerial bill-posting"—projecting

Advertisements on the clouds. The machine is a monoplane with a wing-span of more than 180 feet.

It will have eight engines—about 4,000 h.p. makes it possible to fly at a speed of about 150 m.p.h. the monoplane is built of duralumin.

It is intended that the new machine shall serve as a flag-ship of the squadron named after Maxim Gorky.—Reuter.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

Cool in Crisis.

Sir Miles Lampson, who is to succeed Sir Percy Loraine as High Commissioner for Egypt and the Sudan, is six foot five and 'fifteen stone' of solid British flesh and bone.

There is nothing of the highbrow about him. He is neither temperamental nor artistic. But he is one of the most competent men in a crisis that the Foreign Office has ever produced.

He is a good "mixer," with a quiet but masterful personality. But his strong suit is work. Like Mr. R. B. Bennett, the Canadian Prime Minister, he requires relays of secretaries to keep up with his tireless energy.

Trouble in Egypt.

Sir Miles is one of the few diplomats, who have been equally successful both abroad and in Whitehall.

As head of the Central European Department he did the spade work for Locarno. Abroad, he has found trouble nearly everywhere he has been en poste. He was High Commissioner in Siberia during the Kolchak period. He had seven turbulent and strenuous years in China. He is not likely to find peace in Egypt.

For the last four years that country has been tranquil, thanks largely to the ability of Sidky Pasha, the Prime Minister, who has been able to restrain the Fascist tendencies of the throne and at the same time to keep the Wafd in check.

But Sidky Pasha cannot carry on much longer. He has already had two strokes. When he goes, trouble will be inevitable.

Duke of York's Record.

It is too early to declare with any certainty that this will be a record year for grouse; conditions vary in the different districts.

That it will be above the averages, however, is clear, and both in Angus and in Aberdeenshire several local records have already been established.

Most interesting of these local records is the bag of 400 brace made by Sir Harold Wernher and his party on Glenmoy, Angus.

Among the seven guns was the Duke of York.

Royal Shots.

Although the Duke of York is by far the best and the keenest shot among the King's sons he has never yet had the fortune to take part in any national record shoot.

Strangely enough, the Prince of Wales, who does not care for shooting, can claim this distinction.

The record bag for pheasants in Great Britain was obtained at Hall Barn, Beaconsfield, on December 18, 1913, when seven guns shot 337 pheasants.

The seven guns included the King and the Prince of Wales, the latter then a boy of 19.

Man Behind the Screens.

Mr. Winfield Sheehan, vice-president of the Fox Film Company, is in London on a holiday. He is a small man with a Pickwickian glint in his eye. Like many another leading figure in Hollywood, he jumped from journalism into films. Before the war he was a reporter on the "New York World," to-day he controls the production of 50 films annually, costing an average of U. S. $300,000.

Mr. Sheehan was the power behind the filming of "Cavalcade." He took the decisions, collected the stars, and inspired many of the ideas in the production. Then he spent £300,000 on it.

The Story Hunt.

Mr. Sheehan was asked whether the success of "Cavalcade" would encourage his company to tackle another British subject.

His Pickwickian glint became more intense.

"Give me the story," he said, "and I'll make the picture. In America we are prepared to go anywhere for a story. If I thought there was a story in Turkey I'd go there to-morrow."

Mr. Sheehan, as it happens, is not going to Turkey, and he states that he is going to talk over matters with Mr. Noel Coward. It is just possible Mr. Coward may be induced to write direct for the screen.

From Soldier to Pacifist.

Lord Marley, who was refused permission to land in Japan on account of his pacifist tendencies, had the uncommon distinction of receiving a peerage for political services without ever having been a member of the House of Commons.

He fought five elections for the Labour party, all in ungrateful South Country seats after the war, but never came nearer election than 944 votes, which was his minority in the Faversham Division in 1929.

First a sailor, then a soldier, then a mixture of the two, this pacifist still looks a typical Service man. He is tall, handsome, urbane, with a close-clipped moustache and considerable charm, and he is considered the best chairman for a rowdy meeting that his party possesses.

Arethusa.

There will shortly by one Arethusa the less in the world of ships, for the "Old Arethusa" has been towed to Woolwich for breaking-up.

This has been a popular name for ships. In addition to the "Old Arethusa" and the new Arethusa, formerly the sailing-ship Peking, which has replaced her as a training-ship, there is H.M.S. Arethusa, a cruiser in course of construction, whose keelplate was laid in January last. There is an Arethusa in the Greek Navy, and an Arethusa in the French Navy.

The famous "Saucy Arethusa," the immediate predecessor of the old wooden ship about to be broken up, distinguished herself off Ushant in 1778. An almost equally famous Arethusa was that which, commanded by Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, was in the first important naval engagement of the war, in August, 1914, and who fought in the Heligoland Bight affair and at the Dogger Bank. She was mined in 1916.

Adam Lindsay Gordon.

In view of the admitted overcrowding of Westminster Abbey memorials, Australians will not fail to appreciate the permission to erect a tablet there to Adam Lindsay Gordon, their favourite poet.

There is also cause for satisfaction at Cheltenham College, where Gordon was a pupil, and his father was for some time Professor of Hindustani.

Young Gordon apparently had the morbid strain which often accompanies the poetic temperament. He shot himself in a fit of discouragement in 1870.

Mr. Beverley Nichols.

Mr. Beverley Nichols has been accused of many things, and the latest story about him is causing him some amusement.

In the discussion provoked by his views on war, a correspondent recalled how he once saw Mr. Nichols in Cambridge, with his head obliterated by an inverted wastepaper basket, trying to drive a high-powered motor-cycle round a lamp-post in perfect circles.

"And the joke is," Mr. Nichols declares, "I have never ridden a motor-cycle in my life. What is more, I have always used wastepaper baskets for their proper purpose—the reception of unfounded accusations."

"Traffic Nerves."

Some curious facts about horses' "traffic nerves" have been recorded at Amber Court, where the Metropolitan Mounted Police riding display recently took place.

One is that trams are the pet aversion of most horses. Many a police horse can be trusted on duty in Oxford-street during the rush hour, but never near a tram-line.

"Air noises" are an ordeal to most animals who pass every other test with flying colours often return again and again to the training-school to master the lesson of standing stock-still while an aeroplane propeller revolves overhead.

CHINA EMPORIUM OPENED

Hong Kong's Latest Shopping Centre.

SIR SHOU-SON CHOW RECEIVES GUESTS

Hong Kong's newest and most spacious shopping centre, the China Emporium, in Queen's Road Central, was officially opened to the public at noon yesterday by the hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, C.M.G., Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Within a few minutes the building was filled with thousands of spectators eager to inspect the interior of the new emporium.

The opening ceremony was performed in the restaurant on the fourth floor of the building, where were gathered the official guests, including Sir Henry Pollock and the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., L.L.D., with the Directors of the Company.

The Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow made a short speech of welcome to the guests, followed by Sir Henry Pollock and the Hon. Dr. Kotewall, who spoke in Chinese.

Other guests present included Mr. T. E. Pearce, of Messrs. John D. Hutchinson and Co., Mr. Keller, of Messrs. Keller, Kern and Co., and Mr. C. Little, of Messrs. Little, Adams and Wood, with the heads of several European business houses.

Presentation to Sir Shou-son. As the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. W. G. Felshaw, on behalf of Messrs. Little, Adams and Wood, the architects of the building, presented Sir Shou-son Chow with a silver cigarette box, suitably inscribed.

Chairman's Speech

Sir Shou-son Chow, welcoming the guests, said:—As you all know, there are already several other departmental stores in different parts of the Colony, but the locality we have chosen for, we think, one that serves a large section of the community and is particularly convenient to residents of the Middle Level and the Central part of the City.

Scope for New Enterprises. It is not our intention to enter into competition with other departmental stores, as we feel that Hong Kong is, after all, not so small a place as not to admit of the establishment of another emporium such as ours. I, for one, feel that in spite of the general depression, there is still ample scope in the Colony for the promotion of legitimate business enterprises.

It is true that Hong Kong, like the rest of the world, has not escaped the depression, but we have no reason to be pessimistic. World economic problems will find a solution sooner or later, and it is only a question of time when Hong Kong will regain its former prosperity.

We have seen many imposing buildings erected in the Colony in recent years. Ours is a combination of Chinese and Western architecture, designed and supervised by Messrs. Little, Adams & Wood to whom my fellow-Directors and I wish to tender thanks and congratulation on the successful completion of their difficult task.

We have this day launched a new enterprise—an entirely new business in a new building, stocked with new goods, run by a new staff. As everything is new to us, I fear that, at the beginning, we may not be able to come up to your expectations, and I therefore crave your indulgence, which I feel we shall have.

It only remains for me to assure the public of our best services in every respect, and our earnest endeavours to live up to our motto, which is "Efficiency and Courtesy."

"Buy British"

Sir Henry Pollock replying on behalf of the guests, said:—There can be no doubt, from the inspection which I have made of these premises, that we have here a very up-to-date concern, which bears every promise of a very successful future.

Perhaps you will kindly permit me to refer to a matter which I naturally have very much at heart.

Speaking as a Briton and as an old resident in this British Colony where Chinese and British interests are so closely bound up together, I would venture to urge the Directors of this Company to deal as largely as possible in British and in British Empire goods.

In support of this appeal of mine, I would urge the two following considerations: firstly, that British goods have a deservedly great reputation throughout the world for their excellent quality and finish; and secondly that, whilst many other international exchanges at this time of world crisis have been rocketing up and down, the rate of exchange between our local dollar and the pound sterling has remained remarkably stable by comparison.

U.S. TO AID FOREIGN BONDHOLDERS

President's New Venture.

SEMI-OFFICIAL INSTITUTION TO BE FORMED

New York. It is understood that President Roosevelt will soon put in operation the Corporation of Foreign Security Holders, authorized in the Securities Act for the relief of American owners of foreign bonds, says the "New York Times."

Problems of organization and operation of the new semi-official institution have been discussed recently by Mr. Roosevelt with Mr. Charles H. March, Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, which has jurisdiction of the Securities Act.

The Corporation of Foreign Security Holders will deal directly with foreign Governments which issued or underwrote securities which were marketed in this country and are now in default. Efforts will be made to collect interest and principal amounts at the source.

In commenting upon the venture, Mr. March emphasized that the Corporation was not to represent the United States Government in its negotiations, but would act strictly as an agent for the individual holders of defaulted foreign bonds.

As soon as the President's signature has been affixed to the necessary proclamation, the corporation will be in a position to receive for registration any foreign security upon which an American citizen has been unable to collect interest or principal.—Reuter.

LOCAL WEDDING YESTERDAY.

Mr. A. B. Hamson And Miss Edith Wood.

At St. John's Cathedral yesterday the marriage was solemnized of Mr. A. B. Hamson, elder son of 4 Leighton Hill Road, to Miss Edith May Wood, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wood of Swatow.

The Rev. N. V. Halward performed the ceremony and Mr. J. R. Luke, a schoolfellow of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride was given away by Miss H. D. Sawyer, Head Mistress of the Diocesan Girls' School, where until recently Miss Wood has been engaged in teaching.

The bridegroom is well-known as a local sportsman, playing cricket for the Craigengower Club and hockey as a member of the St. Andrew's Mamak team. He was educated at Truro College, Cornwall, where he was Captain of the College soccer XI in 1924 and one of the finest bats in the cricket XI.

A reception was held at Messrs. Lane, Crawford's, after which the happy couple left on their honeymoon trip, which will be spent at Macao, Canton and Swatow. On their return they will take up their residence at 3, York Road, Kowloon Tong.

putation throughout the world for their excellent quality and finish; and secondly that, whilst many other international exchanges at this time of world crisis have been rocketing up and down, the rate of exchange between our local dollar and the pound sterling has remained remarkably stable by comparison.

The Chinese Guests

Speaking in Chinese, Dr. Kotewall, who offered congratulations on behalf of the Chinese guests, said, among other things, that the Founders and Directors, by establishing this additional emporium at a time when the Colony's trade was not as good as it should be, had demonstrated in a very concrete manner their faith in the Colony. It was an example which might well be copied by others who have capital to invest in commercial undertakings in Hong Kong.

He heartily wished the Company the success which the Directors had earned by their courage and enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are the Hon. Sir Shou Son Chow, (Chairman), Messrs. Kan Tong Po, Fung Fook Tin, Chan Lim Pak, Fung Kwok Shuen, Li Tse Fong, Pun Hui Cho, Chow Chi Nam, P. K. Kwok, Chan Tse Kel, Chau Yues Teng, with Mr. Chan Haar as general manager.

WORLD'S LONGEST TUBE RAILWAY

London's £5,000,000 Link Completed.

ULTRA-MODERN STATIONS

London. The Piccadilly Line of the tube railway stretches from South Harrow to Cockfosters, now that the last section of its new extension is open. This is a distance of 25 miles, and makes it the longest underground railway in the world.

Work on the extension from Finsbury Park to Cockfosters—a rural "beauty spot" of former days—began three years ago. Some 3,000 men have been provided with employment, and the total cost has been some £5,000,000.

As each new station has been completed—all are of striking ultra-modern design—it has been immediately put into use. Altogether, it has been necessary to build four and a half miles of twin tunnels, not to mention viaducts, banks, cuttings and so on.

A speed of three miles in five minutes is now attained on some sections of the Piccadilly line.

Cockfosters, by the way, had one claim to fame—if a slender one—before it was brought into the public eye by the building of the tube.

The grandfather of Dick Turpin, the most famous of all the eighteenth century highwaymen, is said to have been the landlord of the "Rose and Crown," an inn not far from where the underground now runs.—Reuter.

WINS $29,000 FROM OWN COUNSEL.

Attorney Who Shielded Guilty Man.

Rockford, Illinois.

Henry Olson, who fled into hiding six years ago rather than serve a life term in prison for a crime which he did not commit, has won a $29,250 verdict for damages from the attorney who defended him. He charged that his counsel knew the guilty man and did not divulge the fact at the trial.

Olson charged that his defender, in a murder trial in 1927, knew at the time that two youths had committed the murder, but allowed him to be convicted and sentenced to life in prison for the slaying of a man who was shot in a robbery of his petrol station.—Reuter.

JUVENILE OFFENCES

Draft Bill To Amend Present Law.

The current Government Gazette contains a Draft Bill to amend the Juvenile Offenders Ordinance of 1932.

It is proposed to repeal the paragraph immediately preceding the proviso at the end of the Ordinance and to substitute for it a paragraph defining the type of institution to which juvenile offenders may be sent, the words (in brackets) "including a Certified Industrial School as defined by the Industrial and Reformatory Schools Ordinance 1932" being inserted, in order to avoid the attachment of any unnecessary stigma to children dealt with under the Ordinance.

The amending Ordinance will come into force at the same time as the principal Ordinance which it amends.

KIDNAPPING BIG "TRADE" IN AMERICA

U.S.$650,000 Demanded In Five Months.

BUSINESS INCREASES

New York. Kidnappers in the United States have demanded at least $650,000 from victims' families and friends in the last five months.

Probably they have not received that sum. No one knows for certain but they have got at least $250,000.

Every law enforcing power in the country, from private detectives to the President of the United States, has taken an interest in suppressing this criminal business which has increased steadily in scope.

Here, in brief, are the most notorious cases of only the most notorious cases of five months in America.

Charles Boettcher, Jr., Denver, Colorado, Feb. 12 . . . $ 60,000

Jerome Factor, Chicago, Illinois, April 15 . . . $ 50,000

Peggy McMath, Harwich, port, Massachusetts, May 2 . . . $ 60,000

Mary McElroy, Kansas City, Missouri, May 27 . . . $ 30,000

William Hamm, St. Paul, Minnesota, June 15 . . . $100,000

John Factor, Chicago, Illinois, July 1 . . . $100,000

John J. O'Connell, Jr., Albany, New York, July 7 $250,000

August Luer, Alton, Illinois, July 10 . . . Unannounced.

Peggy McMath's kidnappers were caught and the ransom money returned. Mary McElroy's kidnappers were caught—at least authorities think they got them all—and some of the money was recovered.

Some of Boettcher's kidnappers and some of the ransom was taken by police.

John "Jake the Barber" Factor boasted that he paid no ransom for the return of his son, Jerome, but now a gang is supposed to be holding "The Barber," while the son anxiously tries to effect his release.—Reuter.

ROOSEVELT'S WAR ON CRIME

Determined To Stamp Out Kidnappers.

NEW POWER BEING DRAFTED

Washington. President Roosevelt is determined to throw the full force of the Government behind the war on armed crime.

Aroused by the persistent series of kidnappings, he wants a super-relief force of Federal agents to assist local and state authorities.

Already, a staff is at work in the Department of Justice. Millions of dollars and more men are contemplated seriously by the Administration to beat down the traffic in human life.

The Attorney General, Mr. Cummings, is working out a Legislative plan to give the Federal Government greater power. He is ready with some details, and an early conference with the chief executive is in prospect.

Effects of the federal attacks are in evidence in the rounding up of criminals in the mid-west who have been identified in recent kidnappings.

Mr. Roosevelt realises that the Constitution virtually restricts police powers to the states but he has in hand a Federal force which may be called into action at the request of state and local authorities.—Reuter.

WORLD TRADE NEEDS ONE CURRENCY

English A Universal Language?

DEEP-ROOTED IN CHINA

London. English will soon be an international language.

This is the belief of Professor W. S. G. Adams, Warden of All Souls' College, Oxford.

He declared that although he was not an Esperanto "fan" there was much to be said in favour of at least one common language, while at the same time keeping the individual languages.

"Recently I was out in China," he said, "and one of the things which impressed me was the way in which English was permeating the world."

"It would be exceedingly valuable," he continued, "if we could also have a common currency."

"It looks so simple, but it is not so simple as it looks, because behind money lies the complicated problem of exchanges, and so forth."

"Nevertheless, it remains an ideal towards which the world is moving, and even though you may not get international money in the strictest and purest sense of the word, the world all the time is trying to get nearer towards stability in its currency, despite recent events."—Reuter.

ITALY BARS U.S. CITIZEN

Capone's Colleague Has No Country.

"PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 2"

Chicago, Illinois.

Anthony "Mops" Volpe, formerly Al Capone's right-hand man, is without a country. The United States is trying to deport him to Italy, but the Italian Government has refused to take him.

Volpe is listed in the Chicago Crime Commission black-book as "Public Enemy No. 2" and his American naturalization papers were revoked three years ago because he is said to have withheld information of previous arrests when applying for American citizenship.

Ever since then the United States has been trying to deport him but the Italian Government have now refused to issue a deportation passport on the grounds that, having once become an American citizen, Volpe is not a citizen of Italy.

Volpe was born in Argentina of Italian parents and was taken to Italy as a child. He later emigrated to the United States and became an American citizen.—Reuter.

The Supreme Beauty Of Sunset

Symbolical Of Life's Closing Moments

GOD'S MOST PLEASING WORK

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

As far as Hong Kong is concerned, fortunately or unfortunately, according to one's point of view, the fact that this month sees the end of what is known as summer-time in England is a matter of little moment. For us it means that the humidity will gradually get less, and the blazing heat give way to the coolness, which for so long we have been desiring.

When in England the clocks are put back, it means a great deal more than this. It means that the days have closed in, the cold winds of winter are on their way, frost and snow are in the offing—the blue skies will give place to the grey.

Ruskin, talking of the sky, once wrote that it was "that part of nature in which God has done more for the sake of pleasing man, and in order to touch him, than in any other of His works."—And is that not true?

There is no scene on earth so fair or so wonderful that man cannot spoil it. Where the cataract leaps among the hills, he will build a power station to supply current to some distant town, but he cannot touch the heavens. In the very heart of some fairy glen he will place the virtues of somebody's and plaster the gateposts in a country lane with the claims of some quack doctor, but above it all, it is God alone who spreadeth out the heavens like a curtain, and in them He has set a tabernacle for the sun.

Even in places where the face of the earth has no suggestion of natural beauty, the face of the sky redeems it from evil. Far above the squalor of a city's meanest street there burn the great fires of the setting sun.

Sunset Most Beautiful. For of all the glory of the sunset is chief. The dawn has its cold splendours, but not many of us are there to see it, when it is at its best. It is at eventide, when the work of the day is done, and the senses are able to respond, that God unfolds His glories in the Western sky.

"Of all the sights which one has seen, of architecture, of natural beauty or of rugged wonder, what remains in one's mind above all others are the memories of sunsets seen under all kinds of varying conditions. From the coast of Spain watching it setting over the Atlantic rollers, or going down in a ball of living fire across the island of Ceylon, as the cool breeze came up the sunset tells us to put together these two ideas—beauty beyond the mind of man to portray, and God.

There is plenty of ugliness in the world and in the life of man. Man knows himself how much of the beauty that might have been has been marred and disfigured by him. Yet in his heart he worships it, and feels after it, afar off. And in the evening sky it is written that beauty belongeth supremely unto God, and sunset becomes a Sacrament.

Whatever that far-off divine event may be to which all creation moves, one of its features shall be, must be, a beauty that will fully satisfy. For Beauty and God cannot be divorced. And so, in the evening when God, for His own good pleasure, working with those material elements which must obey His behests, unfolds His will in dazzling splendour, He is just declaring to us that the end and goal of life itself, shall be fair and satisfying and beautiful too.

The Unseen Presence. We need not be afraid to say and believe that God speaks to us in the sunset. If you pick up the receiver of a telephone and hear some friend announce some good news it does not disturb you to remember that the wire itself has no power to speak. You know that somewhere at the end of the wire there is a mind and heart like your own, one who is using the soulless wire as a medium of speech with you.

So when the glories of the sunset fall upon our hearts like a benediction, breathing peace, and cleansing us of all that is mean and sordid, we need not be afraid to believe that behind it, there is the Mind and Heart, in Whose image we are made, Whose gift is peace, whose whisper, even along the waves of ether, is His none the less.

There is another thought that sometimes comes when we have watched a sunset—a little positive, even a little sad. It reminds us that the day is ended and the night is coming on. Its charm and spell are like that of the autumn—the remembrance of what has gone—the tender grace of a day that is dead. For all the beauty and wonder of this world there is a tear at the heart of things. Beneath our laughter and happiness there lies that deeper note—that the night cometh. There is an end to everything, friendship, happiness, work, even life itself.

And yet the end may be beautiful, more beautiful even than the beginning, for God has made the death of a single day exceeding fair. The sun passes gloriously to its rest. Hopefully too, for it promises a new and fairer morning. So do God's children pass in the glory of that sunset, which promises a yet more splendid and more glorious dawn.

ROME'S GLAMOUR RESTORED

MUSSOLINI'S VAST ENTERPRISE

RECREATING THE IMPERIAL CITY

(By Norman Hillson.)

WHATEVER the enemies or friends of Signor Mussolini may have to say about Fascism, only the meanest-minded spirit could fail to pay tribute to the heroic efforts of Il Duce in recreating Imperial Rome as a modern metropolis. No one visiting Italy to-day can fail to be impressed by the colossal tasks which Il Duce set himself and fulfilled—the two wonderful motor roads, the one at Monza, the other at Ostia; the new railway station at Milan, built on a scale that Carnaroli would have envied; the wonderful road bridge linking Mestre and Venice, the coastal road from Leghorn, and the new railway track from Rome to Naples. They were the conceptions of genius, and were carried out with the thoroughness that is the watchword of Fascism.

New Imperial Way. Mussolini has made great changes, sweeping away acres of wretched slums, and laying bare the original Roman city. He has driven the huge and imposing Imperial Way from his own palace at the end of the Corso to the beginning of the Appian Way, near the Arch of Constantine. The magnificent road, in order to give complete harmony to this new road, it was necessary to "manufacture ruins" at appropriate intervals among the neat grass plots. But if ruins were "manufactured," one must confess they are uncommonly good ruins.

Turning from these actual material improvements, these who knew Rome in pre-Fascist days must be impressed by a sense of cleanliness, which erstwhile was unknown in the dusty, rather smelly capital. The surfaces of the street are admirable, a fact which the motorist takes full advantage of, for the Roman driver, in his car like a Judgernaut, oblivious of any obstacle such as mere pedestrians who happen to be in the way.

Mussolini may be indicted of the charge of having made Rome, rather obvious, perhaps a little blatant. But he can be excused on the ground that he has transformed the ancient city of the Caesars into the finest architectural museum in the world, and has also bestowed on the straggling city of the Seven Hills the appearance of a modern metropolis.

Even after the establishment of the Kingdom of Italy Rome was rather unkempt and uncared for. She had her majestic ruins, her basilicas, her palaces (some of looking rather tired), her picture galleries and triumphal arches. But there was no co-ordination in the vast capital. Mean streets gave on to great houses and temples.

I cannot imagine why the Roman population is not exterminated within a week. Vehicles and pedestrians mingle and commingle in the narrow streets, and each citizen who ventures on foot abroad takes his life in his hand.

The Roman Scene. Although Rome is the headquarter of the Fascist movement, you do not see many Black Shirts except at the Palazzo Venetia or the Palazzo Chigi (the Foreign Office). They are unobtrusive for the most part, possibly because they realise the hold they have on the Italian people. In my conversations with various Romans I heard no mention either of Fascism or Il Duce. Both have become a habit. You cannot call it resignation. Rather it is just a fact of daily life.

The fine courtesy which one always associated with Roman life not only remains in modern Rome. It even flourishes. Rome also boasts the best dressed and finest figures of men in all Italy. That also remains the same. Their womenfolk still remain of two grades—the very poor and incredibly dowdy, the very rich and incredibly smart. In the same way there seems no via media between hotels and restaurants. Either you sit down to bare boards and food of doubtful origin, or else you take your place in a smart restaurant (where prices are arranged accordingly) and eat exquisitely.

For the rest, Rome remains the most colourful capital in Europe; colourful not only because of the various shades and tones which months of baking sunshines give to the walls of houses and palaces, combined with the semi-equatorial vegetation and brilliant flowering shrubs, but also because of the population who walk the historic streets, a kaleidoscope of the devout, soldiery and ordinary mortals.

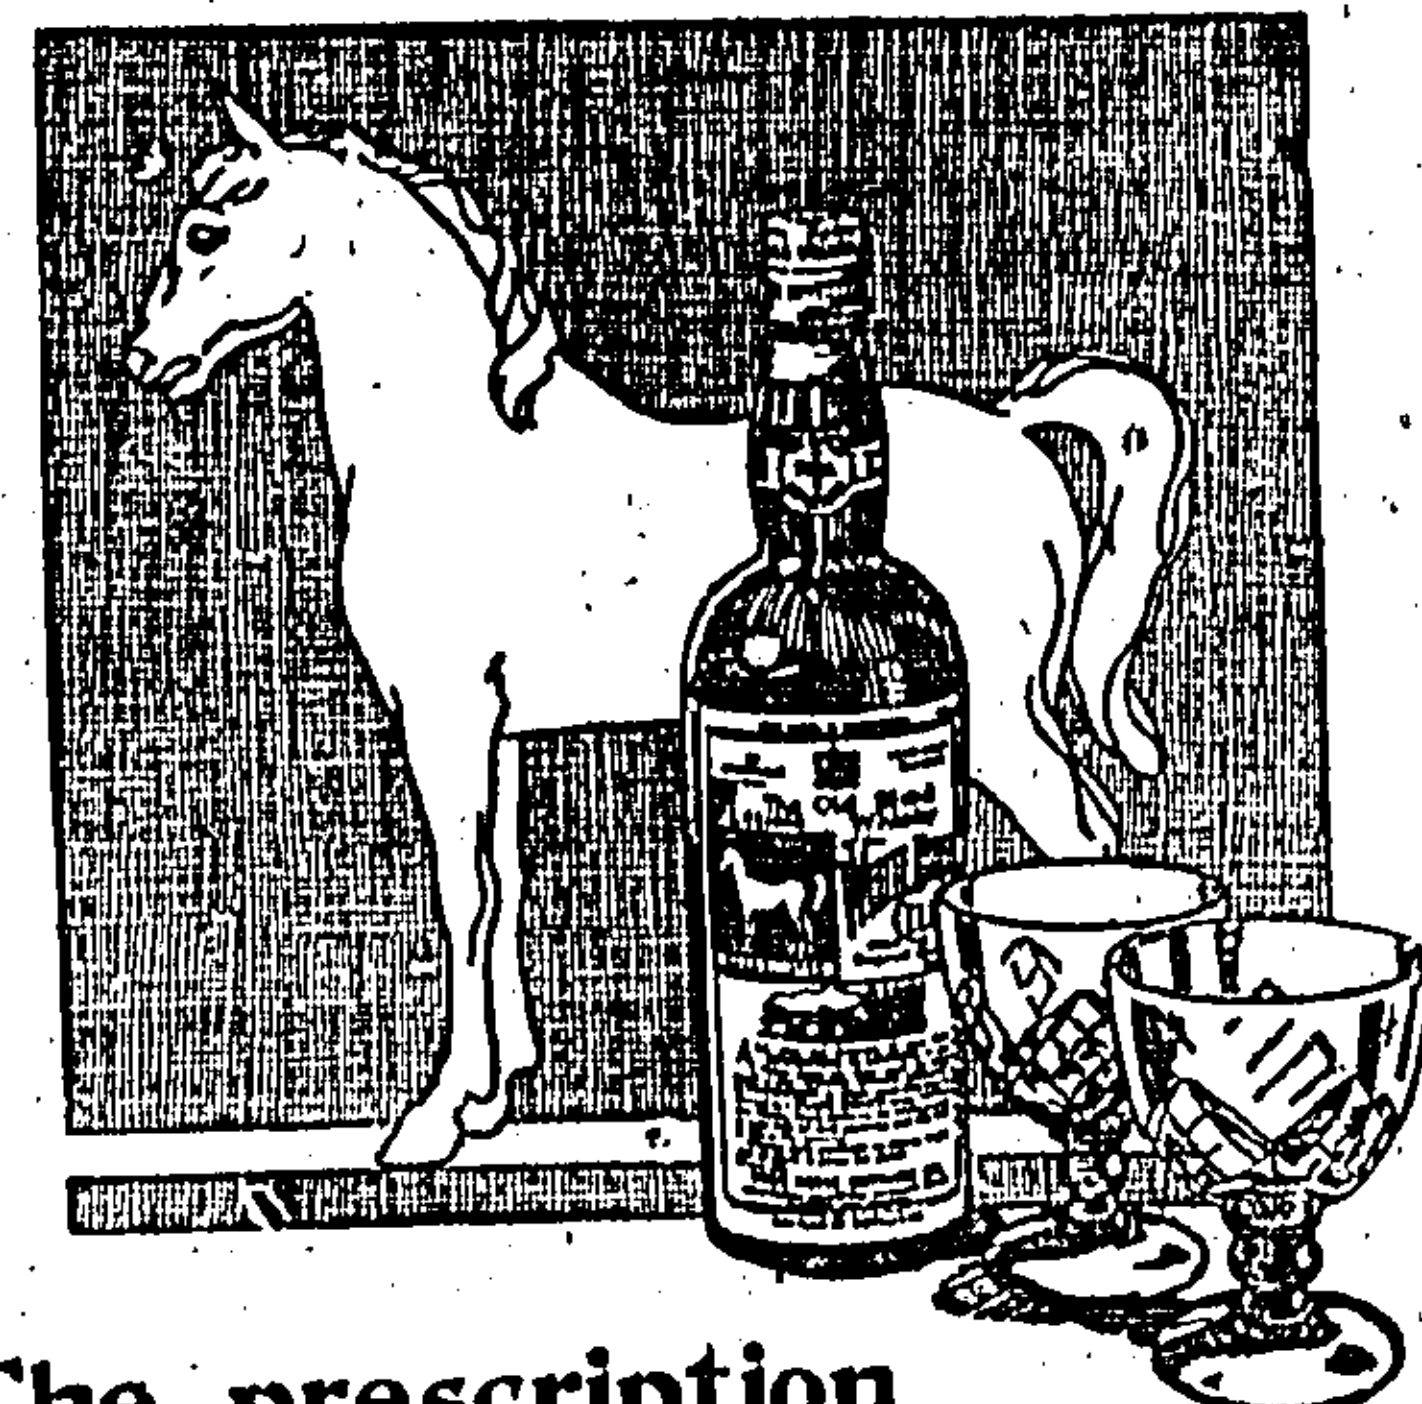

A procession of young divinity students, in their black cassocks, and enormous round hats, is followed by a group of officers, most marvelously tailored, with their huge capes and brilliant riding boots.

Bersaglieri and Alpini on leave from the North mingle with bishops and canons of the church. The various colours of the many international divinity schools give more impression to the canvas. And, above all, the bright clothes of the women, the shawls of the aged poor, and the smart gowns of those who look to Paris for their inspiration.

It is a wonderful picture, which no Fascist regime could ever change. Besides, I doubt if Mussolini wishes to change the Roman scene. He is far too much of an Italian with a sense of the past for that.

EDUCATING CONEY ISLAND

King's English For Show "Barkers."

SCHOOL STARTED IN U.S.

New York. The chances are that the holiday crowds at New York's famous Coney Island no longer will hear "Gather 'round, folks, and see this first enter do his stuff. Ain't he hot—I ask you, ain't he hot?"

A school has been started for the hundreds of "barkers" who daily shout the attractions of the resort's side shows.

College professors are the instructors and the director of one of the largest amusement centres, says that those "barkers" who do not learn the King's English will be replaced.

"In the days of Barnum," he said, "it was the custom to have loud-mouled soap box announcers, but there's no reason for them now. Those who tell the public about the attractions must do so in an intelligent fashion."

And the school is not for men alone. There are about 50 girl "barkers" on the boardwalk this season and they'll have to learn the King's English too.—Reuter.

POLICE TURN OUT TO CAPTURE BAT.

Five Women Arouse False Alarm.

Philadelphia. Shrieks of five women aroused the neighbourhood, telephone calls brought police automobiles with screaming sirens, and half a dozen policemen dashed into the house with drawn pistols to capture the burglar that had been heard "all over the house."

But a blackjack turned the trick. One blow and the bat was slain.—Reuter.

GIRL MUST SLEEP IN CHURCH.

"Evil Spirits" Tear Her Clothes To Pieces.

Sofia. Unless Marie Gekoff sleeps in a church at night evil spirits come and cut up her clothes, according to "La Bulgaria."

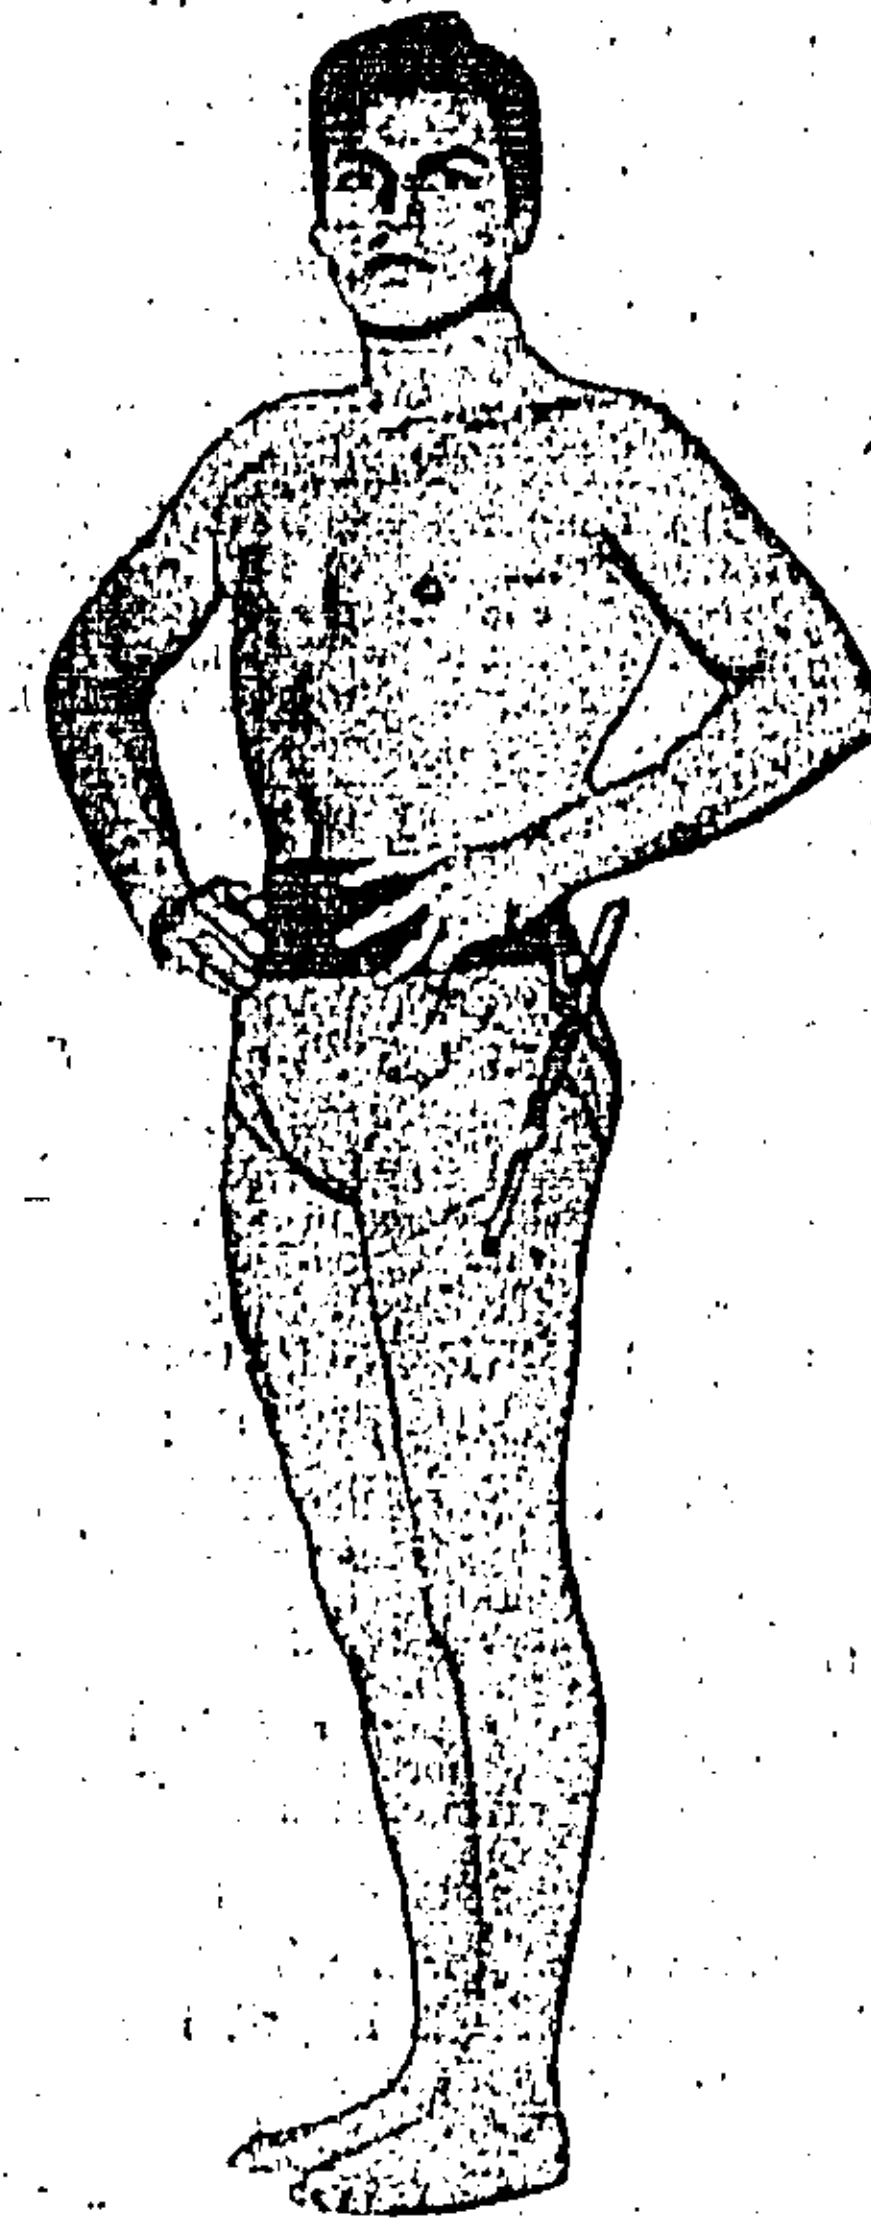

Marie is a pretty girl of 18 years and lives in the village of Clementinovo, Bulgaria. One morning she woke to find her clothes had been cut to pieces with scissors. This happened a second time and then her father, much alarmed, hid behind her bed to watch. Nobody came near the room, yet in the morning Marie's clothes were in shreds.

The girl went to sleep with neighbours, but the same thing happened. She tried leaving her clothes with neighbours while she slept at home, but it was no use. At last, reduced to her last frock, Marie went to sleep in the village church, and her clothes were untouched.—Reuter.

COLONY RECORD

In the Interport trials, in preparation for the visit of the Shanghai Y.M.C.A. to the V.R.C., Lionel Roza-Pereira won the 100 Yards Free Style from E. E. da Roza in a thrilling race to clock 60 3/5 seconds and also won the Back-Stroke event from Lawrence, after a magnificent final spurt, in 76 seconds.

B. Gosano, the Interport footballer, caused a sensation when he won the 100 Yards Breast-Stroke in 80 1/5 seconds.

E. M. Marques, also upset forecasts by taking second place in 81 seconds.

H. M. Remedios, the club champion, made a false start and lost considerable ground before he could settle down. The race was the most exciting event of the evening.

In the water polo match between the V.R.C. and Chinese Athletic Association, the V.R.C. won by six goals to nil. Chan Sok Pla, the Chinese goalkeeper, played an exceptionally fine game, stopping shots from all angles.

Ambrose (2) and Lawrence scored in the first half, and Remedios (2) and Ambrose brought the score to six in the second half.

At the conclusion of the races the prizes were distributed by Mr. W. Logan, Vice-Chairman of the V.R.C., who congratulated Mrs. McMahon and Lionel Roza-Pereira on their success.

He remarked that Mrs. McMahon had established a new record for lady swimmers in the Colony and that her performance last night was the result of hard and consistent training.

Oil And Petrol From Coal

Experts' Views Differ.

COST OF THE PROCESS

Eleven hundred delegates, drawn from all countries, attended the World Petroleum Congress which was held at the Imperial College of Science, South Kensington, forming the largest gathering of oil specialists and technologists yet held.

The most crowded theatre was that in which the hydrogenation of coal was discussed.

Mr. K. Gordon, of Imperial Chemical Industries, in an address on the hydrogenation of bituminous coal, said that good yields of light oil had been obtained from all British coals except anthracite.

Other aspects of the subject were discussed by Vpn Dr. M. Pier, Dr.
W. R. Ormandy, Dr. Peck, Prof.
Roberti, and Prof. H. I. Waterman.
In the debate which followed division was evident between those who supported the cracking of natural oils for petrol and those who place faith in coal hydrogenation.

Advocates of natural oil held that the anti-knock quality of any petrol producible from coal could not equal the natural fluid.

In a paper read to the congress
last night Mr. J. B. Aug Kessler said it was absurd that extremely low gasoline prices should indirectly, through excessive taxation, have been the means of focussing attention on the very expensive and therefore uneconomical process of hydrogenation of coal and lignite.
Coal hydrogenation involved the construction of costly plant and equipment at a few points carefully chosen in relation to the sources of the raw material required.

ordinary rates of subscription would apply, the entrance fee being waived.

In such cases,
(a) unless membership of the
H.K.A.A. is retained, the H.K.
A.A. badge would not be valid in Great Britain or Ireland and would be withdrawn. On being notified that the H.K.A.A. badge has been withdrawn, the A.A.
will supply its own badge free on payment of the ordinary
A.A. subscription.

(b) where H.K.A.A. membership is retained, the H.K.A.A. badge may be displayed in Great Britain or Ireland in Addition to the A.A. badge, which latter will be obtainable at the usual fee on payment of the ordinary A.A. subscription.

The H.K.A.A. is entitled to publish the fact that it is federated with the A.A., the term "federated" implying that the H.K.A.A. and the
A.A. are respectively independent, but bound by a resolve to further each other's interests and objects in all ways possible.

This Agreement to take effect on signature by both parties and remain in force until determined by either party giving to the other six months previous notice in writing.

FRIENDS & LOVERS.

Headed by a cast of distinguished players, including Adolphe Menjou, Lily Damita and Erich von Stroheim, "Friends and Lovers," a sumptuous dramatic talkie of high love, patriotism and friendship, opens to-day at the Central Theatre.

This RKO-Radio Picture, embellished by striking dialogue and vivid action, moving from London to Paris, to India, is a stirring photoplay. It tells the simple story of a woman, loved by two men who are comrades in arms in the British Indian service, but who find friendship greater than their loves. That, substantially, is the plot; but its development under the expert hands of Director Victor Schertzinger brings out the shadings of emotion which makes "Friends and Lovers" a thrilling talkie.

Lily Damita, as the woman whose beauty is the talk of London's drawing rooms; Erich von Stroheim as the monster who is her husband and who uses her for polite and exorbitant blackmail; Adolphe Menjou, as the lover whose affection she returns, and Laurence Olivier, as the young lieutenant who is another of von Stroheim's victims, all play magnificently, with a fine appreciation for the high dramatics of their roles.

The cast and story, and the direction, too, make "Friends and Lovers" one of the season's exceptional talkies; and as such it should be seen by all means.

USURPATION OF POWER BY NATIVE CHIEF

Chief Suspended In Bechuanaland.

ORDERED EUROPEAN TO BE FLOGGED

Admiral Evans' Report

London, Yesterday.

A full report on the Bechuanaland flogging case has been received at the Dominions Office here, from Vice-Admiral E.R.G. Evans who, in the absence of Sir Herbert Stanley, on leave, is Acting High Commissioner.

Important points of constitutional authority are involved in the case, and the report makes it clear that Tshekedi, Chief of the Bawangwato Tribe, exceeded his powers in flogging a white man, Mr. Phineas Mackintosh, and that in claiming the right to do so he was attempting to put himself above the law.

As a result of the findings of the Commission of Enquiry, Mackintosh was on Wednesday banished from residents in any native territory on account of his deplorable relations with natives.

Dealing with the case of Tshekedi, Vice-Admiral Evans, on Thursday, announced his suspension from Acting-Chiefdomship during His Majesty's pleasure. The report states that the Chief admitted trying the case and giving sentence.

His defence was that, firstly, Mackintosh was a bad character and that his action was justified, and secondly, that he was immune from the section of the Proclamation of 1891, which forbids a Native Court to deal with Europeans.

The report adds that the Chief's attitude, as disclosed by the Enquiry, made it im-

Economic Freedom For Holland.

Geneva, Yesterday.

The Dutch government have finally denounced the 1929 Convention for the abolition of import and export prohibitions, thus ensuring Holland of complete control of her own economic policy.—Reuter.

NO RESTRICTION ON RUBBER IMPORTS

Amsterdam, Yesterday.

It is now confirmed that the Crisis Export Decree, introduced by the Netherlands East Indies People's Council, does not refer to the possibility of the introduction of a restriction on rubber exports.

The Ordinance empowers the Government to restrict exports of various products to enable them to safeguard domestic consumption.—Reuter.

An attempt to molest an American citizen was made on September 6, when a gang of workers attempted to remove the manager of the United Fruit Company from a liner at Havana docks. Simultaneously, two managers of a sugar mill at Santa Clara were forced to take refuge from Communists; on a British freighter.

possible to deal with him by a fine and a rebuke.

In official circles in London, the view is expressed that whatever Mackintosh's offence had been, Tshekedi's claims could not be allowed, and that the danger of usurpation of the power of administration had to be averted, otherwise the existing difficulties of administering the country would have been greatly increased.—British Wireless Service.
